Völker healthcare beds

The perfect combination of versatility, style and functionality.

Völker beds for long-term care are available in several designs and colours. They combine the required functionality of medical technology with a sophisticated style that makes a room in healthcare facilities even more homelike and comfortable. Particularly those people in need of care have a right to respect and regard for their dignity. We think, develop and manufacture with this in mind.

Safe mobilisation for residents

Relief for the care staff thanks to the patented Völker side rail.

Independent mobilisation for residents helps to maintain autonomy and a sense of security. This mobilisation is supported by the central gap in the Völker side rail, alleviating the restricted freedom of movement imposed by side guards. The stable, multi-telescopic design of the Völker side rail enables residents to stand up independently and maintain their own strength. The Völker side rail also moves on all sides together with the lying surface when it is being adjusted, and thus offers optimum protection for the resident.

Greater comfort and relaxation

The micro-stimulation lying surface.

All of Völker's lying surfaces feature the patented MiS® Micro-Stimulation System, which is based on neuroscientific principles. It reacts to even the most minute of the patient's own movements, relaying them back to the body as tactile stimuli from the lying surface through the mattress. Experience in recent years has shown that such feedback can lead to improved perception of the body, as well as improvements in sleeping and lying comfort. The combination of lying surface and mattress may also reduce the risk of bedsores.¹
